Overall, Bright Coffee shop generated strong sales growth over the six-month period, with revenue increasing substantially toward June. Coffee and tea were the main revenue contributors, while morning hours generated the strongest sales activity.

Revenue Performance Over Time

Revenue increased from $81,677.74 in January to $166,485.88 in June. June recorded the highest monthly revenue. February was the lowest month at $76,145.19. Revenue increased considerably from February through June.

Revenue Performance Over Time

Monday generated the highest revenue across the week, while Saturday recorded the lowest revenue. This indicates that sales performance varies considerably by day, with weekday trading contributing more revenue than weekend trading.

Bright Coffee could use the lower-performing weekend periods as an opportunity to introduce targeted promotions, bundles or campaigns designed to increase weekend traffic and sales.

Category Performance

Coffee and Tea are the core revenue drivers, generating $466,358.40 combined, equivalent to 66.7% of total revenue. Coffee alone contributes 38.6%, while Tea contributes 28.1%.

The remaining seven categories collectively contributed 33.3%, indicating that revenue is heavily concentrated in Coffee and Tea.

Product Performance

TOP 10 PRODUCT TYPE BY REVENUE

Barista Espresso generated $91,406.20, making it the highest-revenue product type. This was $14,324.25 more than Brewed Chai Tea ($77,081.95), a difference of approximately 18.6%.

Product Performance

TOP 10 PRODUCT DETAIL BY REVENUE

Sustainably Grown Organic Lg was the highest-revenue product detail at $21,151.75, followed closely by Dark Chocolate Lg at $21,006.00 — a difference of only $145.75.

Peak Sales Period

REVENUE TREND OVER TIME OF DAY

The 10:30–11:00 period generated the highest 30-minute revenue at $44,966.59. The next five strongest 30-minute periods were also in the morning, ranging from $41,306.88 to $43,706.80.

The 10:30 period generated $3,659.71 more revenue than the 08:00 period, representing an 8.9% difference.

Store Performance

REVENUE BY STORE

Revenue is relatively evenly distributed across the three stores. Hell's Kitchen generated the highest revenue at $236,511.17, only $6,453.92 (2.8%) above Lower Manhattan at $230,057.25.

Recommendations

01 Protect Best Sellers

Prioritise stock availability for high-revenue products and categories.

02 Capitalize on Morning Demand

Ensure inventory and staffing support the strongest morning periods.

Schedule promotions, product bundles and targeted offers around strong morning sales periods.

03 Improve Slower Periods

Test targeted promotions, bundles or loyalty incentives during lower-performing periods.

04 Promote Underperforming Products

Pair slower-moving products with popular products through bundles or cross-selling.

05 Monitor performance by store

Monitor each location's product mix, peak periods and future growth separately.
